Introduction

The Axial Advisor 100 is a quest to identify, verify and publicly acknowledge the most highly regarded lower middle market sell-side M&A advisors in North America. The Axial Advisor 100 is inspired by Institutional Investor's "All America Research Providers", in which the publication endeavors to authoritatively rank the top sell-side Wall Street research analysts by surveying a broad, verified swath of institutional money managers and investment analysts.

Similarly, Axial Advisor 100 enables any lower middle market M&A advisor and their firm to earn recognition based on the quality and frequency of the votes they receive from the Axial buy-side membership.

In total, Axial's buy-side membership includes more than 2,500 private equity firms, independent private equity sponsors, corporate strategic acquirers, and institutional-grade family offices. To assemble the Axial Advisor 100, we surveyed the buy-side membership, requesting that they name both the investment banks and specific sell-side M&A advisors whom they trust and respect most across three categories:

- » Individual Deal Quality
- » Overall Deal Volume
- » Process Effectiveness

The Axial Advisor 100 accommodates lower middle market investment banks of all sizes, industry specializations, and geographies. 70% of the firms that earned a spot in the Advisor 100 are active Axial members, and 30% are non-members whose reputation and achievements in the market have collectively earned them their spot in the list.

These individual M&A advisors, and the firms at which they work, are excellent at what they do. They have real industry domain knowledge and years of transaction execution experience. They blend data, relationships and dealmaking experience to deliver high-quality client outcomes.

Axial's Advisor Finder Program

Confidentially Connect With Vetted M&A Advisors

Finding the right buyer for your business is one of the biggest decisions you'll ever make. And finding the right M&A advisor will determine whether you find the right buyer & sell for the best price. If you make a mistake, the downside is serious. An M&A advisor with inadequate experience can derail a deal with bad advice or poor judgment.

That's why we created Advisor Finder.

Axial's Advisor Finder program provides curated introductions of relevant M&A advisors to business owners exploring a sale. There are thousands of M&A advisors that actively use the Axial platform to find buyers for their clients, which allows our team to run the most comprehensive search in the industry for the set of advisors that are the best fits for your business.

The Advisor Finder Process

- » The process begins with an introductory conversation with an Exit Consultant on the Axial team to better understand your transaction priorities and goals.
- » We use that information to create a short list of advisor candidates who have the greatest depth and relevance of experience working with businesses like yours.
- » You privately review the detailed profiles of the selected M&A Advisors and choose who you would like to be introduced to.

Your identity and information will remain 100% private and confidential at all times, and your Axial consultant will guide you through the entire advisor selection process.

Advisor Finder Criteria:

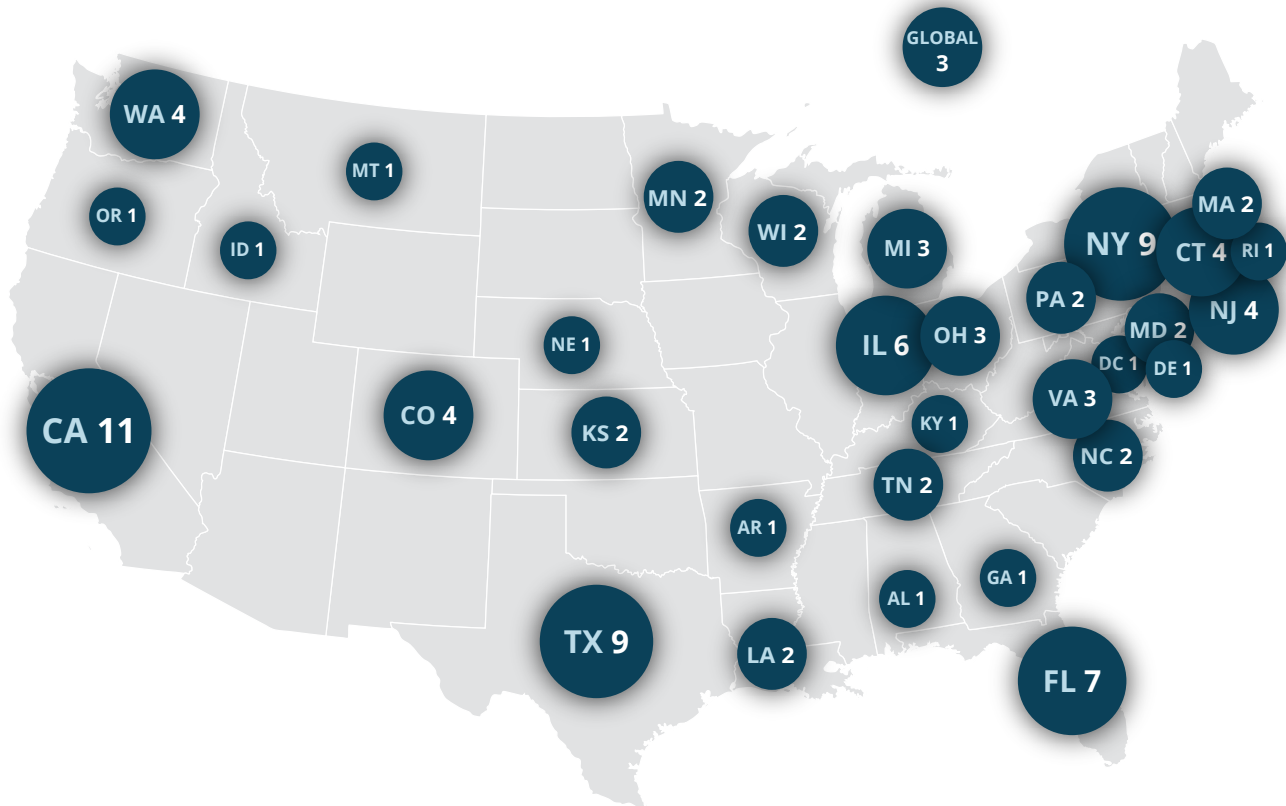

- ✓ You own or operate a North American company generating at least $2.5M in annual revenue or $250K in annual EBITDA
- ✓ You are evaluating or actively looking to hire an M&A advisor to represent you in a capital raise or business sale in the next 24 months
